

Excerpt from the Speech of His Holiness the XIV Dalai Lama's visit to the school on 18th November, 2017

'I am extremely happy and honoured to be with you once more and able to engage with all these young people. I belong to the 20th century and my parents, my teachers and many of my friends have already gone. But when I meet young people like you, I feel younger again. There are still eight decades of this century yet to come. Those of you who belong to the 21st century have the opportunity and responsibility to create a better, more peaceful, compassionate world. Many of my generation will not live to see it, but we place our hopes in you.

Our world has become deeply interdependent. We used to think only of 'my family' and 'my country', but now we have to extend our concern to the whole world and the 7 billion human beings alive today. If we can all live together in peace and harmony, we will all benefit. We must employ universal values on a global level. As social animals, what we need are friends. When we are surrounded by friends, we feel safe and secure. Therefore, it makes sense to extend our concern to the welfare of others in the context of the oneness of all 7 billion human beings.

We are physically, mentally and emotionally the same. Focusing on the differences between us leads to problems. Since basic human nature is compassionate, behaving with more compassion and warm-heartedness makes us happier and sets us at ease.

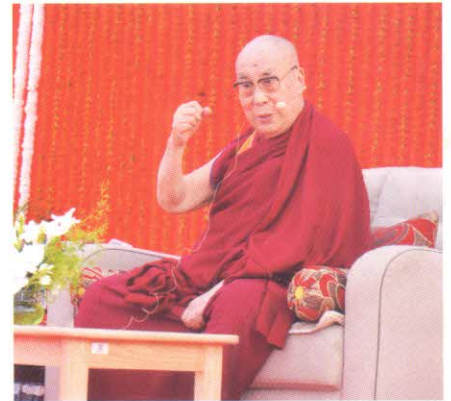

Despite material development, in many parts of the world, there is a moral crisis due to a lack of moral values. Today even religion is used as a ground for conflict. Thinking in terms of 'us' and 'them' causes more division. Modern education by itself is not adequate to create a happier, more peaceful world. Only the incorporation of inner values can make it sufficiently holistic in its approach. Learning how to tackle our destructive emotions, something ancient Indian psychology can teach us to do, would result in happier individuals, happier families and an altogether happier world. I am committed primarily to promoting human happiness.

Since a materialistic culture and materialistic way of life is fraught with problems and dissatisfaction, we need to adopt a different approach. I believe that combining ancient understanding of the working of the mind and emotions with modern ideas of education can contribute to the creation of a more compassionate world.

Anger and attachment are part of our lives but tend to arise from a narrow-minded, self-centred point of view. Therefore, it is better to reduce them in our day to day life.

The 20th century was marked by suffering. I encourage the young generation of the 21st century to change the trend, not by relying on prayers and good wishes, but by taking realistic action to create a happier, more peaceful world.'

Gearing up for Higher Ground – ISA Project

Our school has been working intently on International Projects. The International School Award by the British Council is one such undertaking by the Social Science Department. The British Council International School Award (ISA) is a benchmarking scheme that accredits schools as having an outstanding level of support for Nurturing Global Citizenship in Young People and also to enrich teaching and learning in schools.

Students have been taking active part in the ISA activities since May 2017. Assorted activities undertaken under this programme have inculcated immense knowledge and creativity amongst students. 'Sporting Culture' has opened doors for students to share about native games of India and UK. During the exchange programme to UK, students taught the game of Kho-Kho to the Loxford Students. Exchanging letters and flaring up bonds between children across two nations under the 'Pen pals' activity stirred a lot of learning and excitement amongst our students.

friends were there in this class so she didn't have to act like her brother for which she was glad, she had never been good at acting. When school ended she almost screamed with joy. As she made her way to the door a few boys blocked her path and started bullying her. She tried to get past them but one of the boys pushed her. That was the last straw for her. Everyone knew Jemma had a short temper, the boys thought that it was her brother. She was furious that these boys had the nerve to bully her brother! Jemma noticed that no one paid in the class paid much attention to them, therefore she concluded that this was a regular occurrence. This further added fuel to the fire. The boy who had pushed her, moved towards her with a fist raised. An hour later Jemma was walking down the road to her house whistling and as for the boys, let's just say that they were still trying to stand up on their feet. "The karate lessons definitely came in handy. I don't think those boys would even think of bullying my brother now."

Jemma thought with a smirk. She met her brother halfway to their home. Ash told her that he couldn't understand a word her teachers were teaching in class which was understandable as he was in grade 6 and Jemma was in grade 11. Ash also told her that one of the girls in Jemma's class was being mean to him. Jemma straightaway knew that it must have been Megan. Jemma and Megan never got along. Jemma laughed when Ash told her about all the pranks he played on Megan all day long which ended with Megan falling or more like pushed into the school's swimming pool.

When they both reached home, they found out that their parents had bought the last and the only copy of the antique showpiece they broke. The siblings looked at each other. Jemma asked "Are you thinking what I am thinking?" To which her brother just replied with a nod and a grin. Ash, who was in Jemma's body got his baseball bat from his room. A few seconds later the showpiece was on the floor in pieces and the siblings were back in their own bodies. They both cheered but stopped short when they saw their mother glaring at them. Their mother turned to Jemma, who unfortunately still held the bat and started scolding her. "But-but mom! I didn't even do it....." Jemma whined. Ash just stared innocently at their mother. Ash then turned towards his sister and said "Tsk-tsk-tsk sister.... Why do you have to be such a clutz!?" He even added the dramatic sigh. Jemma growled at him and just said one word-"Run". Ash went off screaming "Aaagghh! Help ugly monster is chasing meeee....." Jemma wasted no time and dashed after him. Both oblivious to their mother telling them to stop. After sometime she just sighed and shook her head, looking at both her children she muttered with a faint smile on her lips "some things never change...."

Body Swapped

(Won the Highly Commended Prize)

Jemma was a 16 year old girl who lived in a village near Seattle. It was a Sunday morning on the day the incident happened. Jemma was sleeping quite peacefully until her 11 year old brother, Ash threw a bucket of cold water all over her. Jemma woke up sputtering while her brother laughed so hard, he had to hold on to the bed for support. He must have seen her sister's expression as he ran downstairs screaming. What happened after that involved a lot of yelling from both sides of the party and ended with an antique showpiece scattered in pieces on the floor.

The next thing the siblings knew there was a bright flash of light which blinded them for a few seconds. After the light faded, Jemma and Ash were left dumbstruck. They had exchanged bodies!!! . After the shock of it wore off, they started to panic. Telling their parents didn't help as their parents thought that it was just one of the many pranks played by the siblings. Next morning Jemma and Ash decided that they had no choice but to play each other's roles until things go back to normal. That day at school Jemma was pretty bored as she had already studied everything before. She had to stop herself from going to sleep at least 5 times. Her brother's friends asked her if something was wrong as she was acting differently. She just told them that she didn't get much sleep the night before and it was nothing else. It was last the period, none of her brother's

You and Me

We met accidentally,
Accidents destroy life,
But this one
Made my life.
It took me time
To realise,
But thank god
I did realise.
You were very irritating,
No doubt,
Still are the same,
That is
Not at all lame.
I am writing this with a hope,
The same with which a flower opes;
Cause the life is full of steep slant slopes,
Just like me, you may also hope.
You will never forget me,
I can't forget you,
Cause we are
The incredible two!

I used to hate you
Very badly!
But now I am fond of you,
Even more badly.
You trust me,
You believe in me;
Am confident,
You won't leave me,
Whatever the situation might be.
I don't believe in ghosts
I don't believe in gods and all
But you made me believe
'Angels do exist,
do not have wings
so are called friends'
A friend like you,
Is hard to find;
But whosoever finds,
Finds a lifelong treasure;
Which, even, gods can't measure.
You changed my life,
Made it alive,

Gave it way,
And a forever shining light.
On this path,
We both will go,
Even if slow,
There will be a blow.
Hand in hand,
We will hold.
I needn't be afraid,
You are quite bold.
We are each other's support,
And the every hope,
The flowers want to ope,
Even if there is steep slant slope.
We won't be divided,
Stay forever united,
Cause friendship's path
Is always lighted!

Women in Defence Forces (Won the Highly Commended Prize)

Power is something in their will,
The volley of sarcasms it can fill,
Of happiness they sow seeds,
Never taking credit for their deeds!

If a woman can give birth to a child,
Overcoming the pain she herself
bears,
Why can't she be the saviour of the nation?
After all she is God's greatest creation!

Full of patience, persistence and endeavours
Expecting no gratitude for their favours,
History is honed by their presence,
But throughout the past they have been despondent!

When clouds of despair encircled
Jhansi,
Rani Lakshmbai took the sword,
When British attacked Awadh,
Brave Begum Hazrat came forth!

We admire the moon's beauty,
Not her light,
But when far off stars cannot help us,

She is shining bright while spreading her light!

Delicate looking flowers bear fruits,
Not the strong stems & roots,
A woman soldier is stout,
Both from inside & out!

Appearances are deceptive,
Even more when we are conservative,
There is a need for receptive views,
There is a need for changes!

Developed nations are rational,
Those which are developing have to learn,
That, women have great potential,
The fate of a nation they can turn!

Who will respect them,
If our own soldiers don't?
To be a crucial part of the army,
Only an opportunity they want!

Women are our strength,
They won't let anyone down,
Let them enter the battlefield,
To it you'll see them bound!

Give them a sky of dreams,

They'll soon head the air forces,
Give them a land of adventures,
With courage they accept the ventures!

Give them an ocean of opportunities,
They'll prove their mettle in Navy,
Give them the coast to guard,
They'll guard it with their bravery!

Women's contingent at Republic day parade this year made us proud,
These soldiers are surely out of the crowd,
For us they are an inspiration,
This is a step towards the progress of the nation!

Women in combat are the nation's strength,
So our conservative notions we need to amend!

Women are courageous,
Their 'will' is pertinacious,
These brave women are stout,
And are ready to make us proud!

Broken Heart

There are many parts to my broken heart,
From the day when it all went in vain.
My silence is just another word for my pain,
My whole world came crashing down,
And it fell without a sound.

All the love that you stole,
Left me feeling I'm alone.
From that day my world fell apart,
I'm standing here with a broken heart.

Every minute that passes, feel like an hour,
All my emotions have slowly turned sour.
Feeling all hollow and alone,
My heart has turned into a solid stone.

And though the broken heart
Bought the death of me,
I can't help stop thinking of good times we had,
Isn't it better to at least fall
Than to be never loved at all?

स्वच्छता ही जीवन

तैयारी हर रोज़ की नहीं,
हर पल की होनी चाहिए।
ज़िन्दगी लंबी न हो,
पर उपयोगी चाहिए।

पौष्टिक भोजन और सुविचार,
प्रगति की ओर ले जायेंगे।
जीवन को जीन की,
यही बस रीति होनी चाहिए।

हर पल कुछ सीखा जा सकता है,
इच्छा से जब बढ़ेंगे आगे।
तब सबका विकास, सबके साथ,
और देश की तरक्की होनी चाहिए।

जुड़ जाएंगे तब ईश्वर से हम,
उस पल न कोई संदेह होगा।
योग विचार से भी ऊपर,
वह आध्यात्मिक ज़िन्दगी होनी चाहिए।

मुश्किल नहीं कुछ भी,
जब दिशा निर्देश ठीक होगा।
वही पाओगे फिर इस जीवन से, जिसकी आशा होनी चाहिए।
इक पल भी अपना न व्यर्थ करों,
हर पल की कीमत होती है।
जो समय की कीमत जानते हैं,
इस दुनिया में उन्हीं की कीमत होती है।

मुझ जैसे शायद बहुत होंगे,
जो कविता में समझाते हैं।
पर कुछ वह भी होते हैं जो,
यह साबित करके दिखाते हैं।

सलवान की यह इमारत,
सिर्फ ईंटों से न बन पायेगी।
जब तक इसमें हर पणधारी की सफलता
और प्रगति, नहीं जुड़ जायेगा।

कमजोर नहीं लड़की हूँ मैं

अकेली हूँ मैं है मुश्किल सफर। कर सकती हूँ कुछ मैं भी।
ठोकरं खाई मैंने हर डगर। बन सकती हूँ कुछ मैं भी।
राह दूजी ना मिली कोई। गर्व से कहती हूँ मैं लड़की हूँ।
न मैं घबराई ना रोई। सक्षम हूँ मैं कमजोर नहीं हूँ।
मिला नहीं मुझे प्रकाश। पढ़ना है मुझे ज्ञान के लिए।
आश्रय मेरा यह खुला आकाश। मान के लिए स्वाभिमान के लिए।
अंधेरे में भी चलती रही मैं। रोको मत तुम आज मुझे।
लक्ष्य के लिये बढ़ती रही मैं। उड़ने दो तुम आज मुझे।
दिखाना है उन्हें आज मुझे।
बताना है उन्हें आज मुझे।

अगर बचानी है जान

ये नदियाँ, पेड़, पत्ते
मनुष्य, पक्षी, जानवर
कितना सुन्दर दृश्य है ये
कि विचार भी हो जाए न्यौछावर।
ये पेड़, ये पौधे
ये फूल, ये पात
कहते हैं, सबसे
कि प्यार से करो हमसे बात।।
चिड़िया का चह चहाना
और फलों का मीठा स्वाद
फूलों का मुस्काना
ये सब प्रकृति माँ का आशीर्वाद।
किन्तु करता प्रार्थना ईश्वर से
इस पावन धरती का पर्यावरण
कि हे परमात्मा, कृपया रोको ये प्रदूषण।
पेड़ों को काटना, कूड़े को जलाना
बचाओं इस सबसे, क्योंकि यही हैं वे मनुष्य
जिन्होंने किया है सिलसिला शुरू कब से।
अगर बचानी है अपनी जान
तो लेना होगा एक प्रण
कि रोकेंगे यह प्रदूषण
ताकि बच सकें ये पर्यावरण और हम।।
